FOR RECLAMATION OF SWAMP LANDS

Dr. Clarence J. Owen, Before Drainage Congress, Urges Its Importance.

SOUTHERN STATES SUFFER

President Wilson Promises Attention to Great Constructive Program.

Savannah, Ga., April 25.—Dr. Clarence J. Owen, managing director of the Southern Commercial Congress, in his address to-night before the National Drainage Congress, in session here, said in part:

"In the United States there are approximately 80,000,000 acres of swamp and overflowed lands that are not only unproductive, but a hindrance to the general welfare and a menace to the public health. Three-fourths of this acreage is located in the Southern States. Practically all of this land is held in private ownership, and it is necessary to have the consent and cooperation of the owners in order to inaugurate a complete system of drainage and reclamation. The reclamation of these swamp and overflowed lands will be of great benefit to the owners, to the State in which the land is situated, and also the Federal Government, because of the improvement in the public health, in the construction of public highways, in the increase in the agricultural produce of the country, and, therefore, will react in the interest of the entire commercial life of the South and the nation.

"The Southern Commercial Congress has inaugurated a plan for the reclamation of these nonproductive areas and an educational campaign to set forth to the people of the Southern States, well as to the owners of these lands, the economic value of their reclamation by making these lands fit for agriculture.

"The Southern Commercial Congress has appointed a committee, which has been appointed by the Southern Commercial Congress, under the chairmanship of Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, to simplify and standardize the drainage laws of the several Southern States, and inaugurate a study of the drainage problem, and to present a direct method of procedure applicable as far as possible to all the States, and the effort made to have the program adopted by the Legislatures of the several States.

"The Southern Commercial Congress has petitioned the Congress of the United States, the petition published as Senate document No. 134, urging the importance of a complete system of drainage of the swamp and overflowed lands in the United States, and appealing to the government to work out a plan for draining the individual pieces of land into a complete system. In the petition the Federal Government is also urged to embrace in the plan an examination of the soil of the swamps, showing its value from an agricultural standpoint and its adaptability for the growth of profitable crops.

"Unless the drainage problem of our States is solved they will not reach the maximum of agricultural and commercial development that is possible for them. The question involves the preservation of our forests, the prevention of the erosion and flooding of soils, and the control of cast waterways now going to waste. The destruction of our forests strikes at the heart of the timber and lumber industry.

"The erosion of soils destroys the fertility of the land, renders it unfit for unit for cultivation, the flooding of great areas renders this vast asset wholly unproductive, and, due to lack of control, millions of horsepower are going to waste.

"Constructive Work.

"As an evidence of the constructive statesmanlike work of the Southern Commercial Congress, the executive officers of the organization presented four planks to the resolutions committee of the national Democratic party in the convention in Baltimore. The four planks are directly related to the whole subject of the Southern States, and, therefore, vitally related to the whole question of drainage.

"The first plank refers to agricultural education, extension teaching in agriculture, and the investigation of rural organization and achievement in European countries, with the hope of the adaptation of a system to meet the needs of rural America, written verbatim into the platform of the now dominant party in our nation.

"Planks were submitted also pledging the Democratic party to the question of Federal control of the Mississippi River, and the co-ordination of plans for the drainage of swamp and overflowed lands with respect to their survey and the supervision of the work of construction.

"Recently, in consultation with President Wilson, I was authorized by the President to say that it was his hope that with the adjournment of the present session of Congress all questions that might be regarded as partisan would be settled, and with the opening of the next Congress his administration would turn its attention exclusively to a great constructive program of common interest to all the people of the United States, regardless of their political affiliation. We may have confidence, therefore, that the wayward to aggressive action in the near future, translating into law the policy with respect to drainage that was written into the platform of the Democratic party."

REVIVAL SERVICES AT RANDOLPH-MACON

Ashland, Va., April 25.—George Irving, editor of the North American Student, will hold a revival at Randolph-Macon College, for the students on of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. Irving was student secretary of Canada for the year 1913-14, and has been speaker of special assemblies for student work while at the university. He was for a time student secretary at Princeton College, and has been speaker and presiding officer for student work in the United States. Mr. Irving will preach at the regular 11 o'clock service Sunday evening, and will talk to the students at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, special services will be held for the students.

COURT AWARDS ELECTRIC STOVE TO PLAINTIFF

Alexandria, Va., April 25.—A suit to recover an electric stove valued at $15 from the Agricultural and Poultry Association of Northern Virginia, this being one of the prizes offered at its show last January, instituted by Mrs. H. P. Wilson, of Hollin Hall Farm, Fairfax County, was heard to-day before Judge L. C. Bailey in the Corporation Court, and the court awarded the electric stove to the plaintiff, who is a widow. The case, although involving only a $15 stove, was heard some time ago by a justice of the peace, and Mrs. Wilson was given a verdict by that court.

THIRTY SCHOOLS DEBATE THIS WEEK

University Will Be Scene of Contest for State Championship.

WORK DONE BY NEW LEAGUE

Eighty Schools in Membership, and All Take Active Interest.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Charlottesville, Va., April 25.—On Thursday and Friday debating teams—thirty high schools of the State—will meet in Charlottesville. These teams will hold a series of preliminary debates for the state championship among the secondary schools. The first debates will be held on Thursday afternoon, when the teams will be paired by lot, and each team will debate its opponent so chosen. The winners of the first debates will again be paired for debate on Thursday night and Friday morning until but two teams remain to debate for the State championship. This final debate will be held on Friday night.

The university has very liberally provided for the entertainment of the teams. Free tickets to the moving picture shows will be given them, also a trip to Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, is being planned by the executive committee for Friday afternoon, and on Friday night, after the final debate, a reception will be given by the university to the members of the different teams. The board of visitors of the university has agreed to give the winner of the State championship a silver cup, which will be presented immediately after the final debate on Friday night.

Organized Last Year.

The Virginia High School Literary League was organized in November last at the State Teachers' Association in Lynchburg. The league was first suggested by the Washington and Jefferson Literary Societies of the university. They sent a representative to Lynchburg, who proposed to the division of colleges and secondary schools that such an organization be perfected. The suggestion was gladly welcomed by the teachers attending the convention and the present plan adopted.

Thus far the league has been eminently successful. Already eighty schools have enrolled and furnished teams to participate in the preliminary debates. Each of these schools was paired with another school of equal standing in its neighborhood for a preliminary debate. The winners of these contests are entitled to participate in the finals held at the university. The executive committee reports that not less than thirty teams will report on the morning of April 30.

The subject of the debate is "Resolved, That a law be passed in Virginia compelling children more than seven and less than fifteen years of age, who are not physically unable, to attend school at least sixteen weeks each year (waiving all question of constitutionality)." The two literary societies of the university published a bulletin containing extracts from the best authorities on the subject of compulsory education, and also suggestive arguments on both sides of the question. Copies of this bulletin were freely distributed among the members of the league.

This enabled each team, regardless of its library facilities, to prepare an intelligent debate on the subject. Consequently, it is possible for the country high school that has practically no library to participate in the debates. However, the membership of the league is by no means confined to the rural high school. Any secondary school in the State of Virginia that does high school work is eligible. The executive committee announces that, with hardly a single exception, the larger cities of the State were represented in the preliminary debates, and

Information for All Lung Sufferers

The makers of Eckman's Alternative will be pleased to send reports of recoveries from tuberculosis and other lung diseases to sufferers, with information about diet and fresh air. Investigate this case:

"My Dear Sir:—For two years I was afflicted with hemorrhages of the lungs, and later I was taken with a severe attack of pneumonia. When I recovered sufficiently to walk about the house I was still afflicted with a hacking cough, which no medicine I had taken could alleviate. It was at this time, March, 1906, that I started taking Eckman's Alternative. In a short time my cough was gone and I pronounced well. I can now speak too highly for the good it has done."

(Signed) HOWARD L. KILPATRICK.

Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung diseases, and in all cases of tuberculosis. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by Truette Drug Company and other leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.—ADV.

A VERY REAL OPPORTUNITY
Suits and Dresses from New York to You at Unusually Low Prices

At this period of the season some of the standard makers of New York City, who always make our suits and dresses and who operate on the "quick-turn-over" principle, find it business wisdom to clean standing stocks and make up garments from surplus fabrics for us—our buyer being on the spot last week, was able to induce them to make unusual concessions—thus we are able to announce this splendid collection of THE NEWEST STYLES BY THE STANDARD DESIGNERS AT VERY UNUSUAL PRICES, as indicated by the following—

- Novelty Suits $22.50
  - Charming Suits $16.50
  - Stylish Suits $8.75
- Comprising the most stunning styles of the season—Silk Moire, Poplin, Serge and Taffeta combinations, Shepherd Checks, etc., in a choice range of the very desirable colors; every suit has a distinctive individuality and marvels of value for Monday $22.50
- Of Crepe Poplin, Serges, Serpentine Crepes, Shepherd Checks and many other fancy materials; new models and shapes; suits exactly like these have been selling all season for $25.00 and $27.50, but because of price concessions from the maker, we can offer them $16.50 Monday for
- There are just 46 of these Suits; all are made from desirable materials and are designed in the newest models, a complete range of the new shades being represented; on Monday they will be priced $8.75

- The New Cape Coat, $12.50
  - Beautiful Dresses, $15.00
- The last word from Paris is the new Cape Coat, something entirely new and different from what has been shown this season. This style coat will be all the rage this summer and fall. A new model has just been received in shepherd check, and will be on sale Monday at $12.50.
- Taffeta and Crepe de Chine Dresses, in all the new models, in black, Copenhagen, green and other shades; every new feature in the way of blouse effects and lace trimmings are embodied in these effective dresses.
- Cohen's Second Floor.

Many New Gloriously Beautiful Summer Waists

This is a "waist season," in which you will buy and wear more waists than last year or for several years past. Why is this? Just this, that none of us can recall a season when fashion has concentrated so much attention and effort to bring waists into style prominence and to make them worthy of the important position they occupy in summer 1914 fashions. In spite of the greater intrinsic value of the actual materials used and the brilliant displays in the waist section, we have been able to price them in a remarkably modest way as the following examples will illustrate—

- Chiffon Waists, of white, with bunches of yellow flowers and facing of cream lace; one of the novelties of the season $4.75
- Mistral Crepe Waists, with fleck of lavender or black; elaborately trimmed in lace, price $3.97
- China Silk Waists, in pink, blue, maize and white, with silk cord and tassels $1.88
- Lace Waists of ecru, with black net and yellow chiffon touches, imparting the French style that only models have; this is a copy of $5.00 $25 waist, priced $5.00
- Voile Waists, with bands of embroidery, in dainty colorings on white ground; no such waists for the price can be seen anywhere else $1.00

Successful Plan of Reorganization for Pittsburgh Bank.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Washington, April 25.—The Controller of the Currency announced today that the plan for the reorganization of the First-Second National Bank of Pittsburgh, Pa., was perfect, that approximately $750,000 of new capital and surplus have been provided, and that the recovery is turning over.

the reorganized bank all of the assets and property of every kind which have been in his charge. The government is redepositing in the bank the balance of funds collected for its account since it closed its doors in July last, amounting to more than $12,000,000. The First-Second National Bank of Pittsburgh will reopen on Monday morning, with a new management and a new board of directors, including well known and responsible business men of Pittsburgh. The capital of the reorganized bank is $4,000,000 with a surplus of $500,000.

The First-Second National Bank of Pittsburgh, in the matter of deposits and total liabilities, was the largest national bank which had failed since the organization of the national banking system in 1863, and the department was gratified to be able to announce the success of the plan for reorganization and its resumption of business.

BREEDEN GETS SENTENCE OF TEN YEARS IN PRISON

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Harrisonburg, Va., April 25.—Ten years in the State Penitentiary is the penalty that Grover Breeden, thirty years old, must pay for the murder of William Frazier, a hunchback, near the Episcopal Mission Home in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Greene County, on January 6. Frank Frazier, a relative of the dead man, is in jail awaiting trial on the charge of being an accessory to the crime. He was the only eyewitness.

As a result of a quarrel over a card game, Breeden quarreled with Frazier and fired a load of shot into his side, causing death in a few hours. Breeden fled to the mountains, but was captured by a posse within twenty-four hours.

New Keeper of Cemetery.

Fredericksburg, Va., April 25.—Colonel William H. Kiger, of Atlantic City, N. J., the newly appointed superintendent of the National Cemetery, has arrived to take charge. He will succeed Major M. M. Jeffers, who has been superintendent here for the past ten years, but has been transferred to the charge of the National Cemetery at Gettysburg.

ANOTHER RICHMOND MOTHER MADE HAPPY

Through What Quaker Herb Extract Did for Her Son

Mrs. Mary Garland reported the case of her son, Mr. J. Garland, who resides at R. F. D. No. 5, Richmond, Va., as follows: "My son has suffered with catarrh of the head, throat and stomach for years. For three years he has suffered with constant headaches all the time, had severe coughing spells, and his stomach was in such a terrible condition he got so he could not eat scarcely anything—in fact, anything he ate he could not retain it, and at times even a glass of water would cramp him almost to death. Said time and again he would have to stand over him and apply hot cloths, and it would look like every minute would be his end, he would suffer such agony. Also had pain in his back and limbs; in fact, was getting in a very weak, run-down condition. He had tried everything he could buy and everything any one would recommend to him for his troubles. But all he ever tried did not seem to reach his case; but, to the contrary, he seemed to be getting worse and worse all the time, until he read about the great Quaker Remedies at Tragle's drug store and of the wonderful results being derived from them; decided to give them a trial; called in and had a talk about his case, and was told his case was like thousands of others the Quaker Remedies had cured. Decided to give them a trial; purchased one bottle of the Quaker Herb Extract, and after taking the one bottle the mother called back after the rest of the treatment, and said, 'My son says, after taking that one bottle of medicine, his headache and pains are all gone, and now he can eat anything he wants without hurting him, and wants to praise the Quaker Herb Extract for what it has done for him.'

Mrs. Garland said: "You don't know how happy I am through what that medicine has done for my son. I have several other children, but he is my only son, so you may know how glad I am to see him restored back to health. I can never thank you enough for what you have done for my son, and may God bless you for the good you are doing for the people in this city with those medicines. I will always recommend them to any one whom I meet with that are suffering."

The Health Teacher says this is one of the many just such cases who report to him of the benefits being received in catarrh, stomach trouble, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles. Call to-day at Tragle's drug store, 817 East Broad Street, and obtain Quaker Herb Extract, six bottles for $5.00, three for $2.50. Oil of Balm, 50 cents.—Advertisement.
